

Shari Repinski, MA, MBA

Chief Executive Officer

srepinski@rmhumanservices.org

Shari Repinski leads Rocky Mountain Human Services (RMHS) as CEO and Executive Director, bringing over 30 years of experience in the developmental disabilities service system. RMHS is a non-profit dedicated to empowering individuals with disabilities to thrive in their communities.

Shari's experience and expertise spans direct care, program administration, and policy development. Her passion for inclusion is evident in her work. As CEO, Shari has spearheaded innovative programs at RMHS, navigating the complexities of securing funding from a variety of sources to expand services while collaborating with partners to ensure accessibility for all in need. Additionally, Shari spent a decade at the Colorado Department of Human Services managing Medicaid programs serving over 10,000 individuals with developmental disabilities.

Shari holds a master's degree in Community Counseling with a focus on crisis intervention, equipping her to navigate complex situations and advocate for those in need. An additional master's in business administration (Strategic Management) ensures efficient program delivery at RMHS.

Jodi K. Dooling-Litfin, Ph.D.

Deputy Program Officer

jlitfin@rmhumanservices.org

Dr. Jodi K. Dooling-Litfin is a psychologist dedicated to supporting whole person development, reflective leadership, and empowering individuals with behavioral health and developmental challenges. As Deputy Program Officer at Rocky Mountain Human Services (RMHS), she provides strategic leadership and fosters a culture of excellence for all programs.

Dr. Litfin has a long history of community engagement. She serves on various boards and contributes to research in early childhood, developmental disabilities, and organizational psychology. Her goal is to increase community participation and well-being for individuals, families, and practitioners.

Dr. Litfin holds a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from Macalester College and a Doctor of Philosophy in Psychology from Colorado State University.

Arnie Swenson

Associate Director, Mission Supports
aswenson@rmhumanservices.org

Arnie Swenson has over 30 years of experience pursuing equity and progress for individuals who are neurodiverse and with a developmental disability in the Denver metro area. Arnie serves as the Associate Director of Mission Supports program. Since 2017, Arnie has been at the helm of Mission Supports which became an official program of RMHS in 2023.

Mission Supports assists individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities that are experiencing homelessness with accessing resources and services. Under Arnie's direction, Mission Supports has assisted more than 350 individuals have been connected to vital resources such as disability income assistance, legal representation, crisis assistance, mental health providers and housing navigation. With Mission Supports assistance, more than 50 individuals have obtained a developmental disability determination, granting them access to HCBS services.

Arnie's passions extend beyond the human services field. John is a Denver "North-sider" and is active in the Denver music and art scene, as a working musician and performance artist.

